Valuable Pungmul Festival, Participatory Bupyeong Festival

The Bupyeong Pungmul Festival conveys the historical values of Bupyeong, which has transformed from an agricultural society into an industrialized and urbanized city.

Pungmul, a traditional community performance using instruments such as kkwaenggwari (small gong), jing (large gong), janggu (hourglass drum), and buk (barrel drum), becomes the centerpiece of this festival.

The Bupyeong Pungmul Festival embraces the stories of Bupyeong's people and daily life, creating opportunities for everyone to meet and connect through pungmul. It has also pioneered a new cultural genre called "urban pungmul."

For the past 28 years, the festival has upheld its core values—not merely reproducing pungmul as content, but building a festival for the local community, one that reflects Bupyeong's history and identity. Through this, it has grown into a central festival representing not only Incheon but also Korea.

Among the 22 pungmul festivals across the nation, the Bupyeong Pungmul Festival is recognized as one that carries deep historical meaning and value. Based on these foundations, it has continued to expand its reach beyond the local community to connect to the broader world, creating a "cultural city of pungmul" that is unique to Bupyeong.

The Bupyeong Pungmul Festival is not only a stage where history and tradition are passed down, but also a meaningful time that reaffirms the identity of Bupyeong as a valuable community.
